

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service and urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. This proposal could make my current service impossible to afford.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. People like me who can least afford it would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This makes no sense and is very unfair to the small overburdened consumer!

I don't want to lose the benefits of my phone service so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,

June Morse
